COURSES

For Art and Design Courses at university you often need an Art Foundation Course after A-level which will develop your portfolio. These can be done at local colleges and sometimes at university.

At university you will specialise in a specific area, e.g. model making, fashion, graphics. The courses will be either 2D or 3D focused.

For performance based courses like musical theatre you will need to have an audition. All these courses will have academic elements e.g. critiquing performances and analysing texts. There will be some courses that are less performance based, so you need to research content rather than rely on the course title.
